Nektr Marketing has taken on multiple marketing challenges for us. Initially we asked them to transfer our website from a very unusable platform to a more user-friendly option. After the transfer was complete, Andy Wolf took the time to run through the new platform with us and teach us the new ins and outs.

Since then we have had Andy help out with minor website and email marketing adjustments as our company grows and our marketing needs change. His response time, technical expertise, and willingness to help with anything are unsurpassed.
